Enjoy the Internet: Be Bold and Be Safe

“YOU HAVE NOTHING TO FEAR BUT FEAR ITSELF.”

Be bold. Fear of making a mistake, appearing foolish, being confused or being robbed stops many people from surfing the net. Well, fear no more! Below are web guidelines that will help you enjoy the surf.

SURFING MEANS EXPLORING

Think of the web as an opportunity to explore. If you do not land on your intended site immediately, it's okay! It's a slight detour on your web excursion and may be quite "scenic."

SURFING A TOPIC USING KEYWORDS

Pick a topic, any topic and there is a web site about it! But, you entered "keywords" that describe what you're looking for and got no matches. Don't fret. Let the computer help you. It will suggest alternate spelling or request that you refine your search. Try again!!!

CLICK AND SHOP SAFELY

"All the world's a mall!" Especially on the Internet, but is it safe? You know you are in a safe area of a site when:

- ◆ A notice pops on the screen as you enter or leave the area. You have to click "ok" or "continue" to go to the next step.
- ◆ There is an "s" after "http" in the email address. Check the address after the pop-on screen warning to make sure the address reads: <https://>
- ◆ The closed-lock icon is in the corner of the screen.

WEB SECURITY

There are web sites that guide you through the maze of security issues that plague children and adults. Here are three for starters.

- ◆ <http://www.safekids.com> has information to keep children Internet savvy.
- ◆ <http://www.atkielski.com> is a homespun web site with an eclectic mix of articles. Find guidance for web security, PC purchases, and the streets of Paris.
- ◆ <http://www.consumerwebwatch.org> is the web watchdog of the Consumers Union.

Use keywords to find sites that can answer the questions you have.

As the saying goes, "Nothing ventured, nothing gained." SURFS UP!
